

Research Activity Report
Supported by “Leading Graduate Program in Primatology and Wildlife Science”
 (Please be sure to submit this report after the trip that supported by PWS.)

2014. June, 15
Affiliation/Position	Wildlife Research Center/D1
Name	Kaori Mizuno

1. Country/location of visit
Yakushima, Kagoshima prefecture
2. Research project
Learning skills to observe wild Japanese macaques through Yakushima Field Science Course
3. Date (departing from/returning to Japan)
2014. May. 18 – 2014. May. 26 (9days)
4. Main host researcher and affiliation
Wildlife Research Center and Primate Research Institute, Kyoto University
5. Progress and results of your research/activity (You can attach extra pages if needed)
Please insert one or more pictures (to be publicly released). Below each picture, please provide a brief description.
Yakushima field Science Course was held by PWS. I chose the Monkey Course from 4 courses because I haven't had behavioral field work on Japanese macaques. My own purpose was learning skills to follow and observe wildlife through this course. We observed the monkeys for 4 days. When the subject was eating on the tree, I had to observe it through a crack of leaves. Additionally, it was difficult for me to follow the monkey which went on a steep mountain path. I have learned a lot through this course.
   Monkeys eating on the trees
     Monkeys grooming A beautiful scene
6. Others
I would like to show my greatest appreciation to all staff for supporting us in this course.