There are ca. 70 Japanese students studying in Brazil. This meeting was held for the purpose of making connections between those students and Japanese companies in Brazil. Although I am also staying in Brazil, I rarely have opportunities to meet Japanese students nor someone of Japanese companies. Participating this meeting would be very meaningful for my future, as well as for the “Field Museum Project” to which I belong. In the morning of the day, 16 lecturers gave us 10-minute presentation about their work and the reason why they chose the job, and in the afternoon we had a face-to-face meeting to become acquainted each other. About 40 Japanese students participated in this event. I was the participant from the northernmost. I heard very interesting stories from lectures working at various kind of place---bank, food company, airline company, ministry, farm, and so on. Questions and answers time was also very interesting. It was quite a rare opportunity for us Japanese students to talk with such people familiarly. I was given a few minutes to talk on my self-introduction in front of all participants because I had an unique background---monkeys’ study in Amazon. I talked about my study and Field Museum Project. Many people got interests in my story and they talked to me at the face-to-face meeting. Overall, through this trip, I advertised the Field Museum project, learned some hint to make my own career, and got many good Japanese friends in Brazil.
